Warm-cold

- The water heater is gas-fired, turns on automatically by opening the hot water faucets, and the water is heated in a very short time
- The radiator is automatic and already programmed
- In summer, it is sufficient to keep the windows closed during the day and open the windows at night, especially in bedrooms: the coolness comes from the valley.

Do not turn on or off lights or other electrical appliances, and do not use telephones or other electronic devices inside. Evacuate the building and call for help from outside, preferably using the single emergency number 112 or the fire department at 115.
- If carbon monoxide (CO) is present, it is critical to act quickly. Immediately open windows and doors to ventilate the room and leave the area, trying to locate the source of the leak. Call for help immediately, preferably 112 for a coordinated response between medical emergency services and the fire department. If possible, extinguish any sources of combustion.
